

Key Objectives

The Atmosphere Flagship Programme

- acts as a trigger for joint activities to address common research questions
- serves as a platform to initiate joint campaigns, publications, and funding proposals
- promotes open data sharing, inclusive research and use of joint infrastructure
- contributes to the optimal use of atmospheric data in the complex, coupled Arctic system through a multidisciplinary approach — in coordination with other Flagships and within a broader Arctic context